

Abstract

The invention provides methods for treating substance abuse by administering to a patient a therapeutically effective amount of at least one cholinesterase inhibitor. A preferred cholinesterase inhibitor is donepezil or ARICEPT®.